Maryland's 7th Congressional District

Rep. Mfume speaks about protecting the U.S. Postal Service with members of the National Association of Postal Supervisors.

2025 End-of-Year Update and Report

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

It is an honor and a privilege to represent Maryland's 7th Congressional District in the United States House of Representatives. I am inspired by your trust, and the opportunity to serve you fills me with motivation each day that I go to Washington.

As we close the chapter on 2025 and the first session of the 119th Congress, I am cognizant of how difficult the past year has been for many of you. From the rising costs of groceries to exploding gas & electric and healthcare bills, the growing affordability crisis is impacting Americans everywhere. The President's unchecked policies are stretching the law and testing the very foundations of our democracy – but I will not be deterred, and neither should you. Your perseverance in the face of these challenges sets a powerful example for me as your representative. I will continue striving to meet and exceed that example, carrying your strength and conviction into everything that I do.

As a senior member of the House Oversight Committee, I continue to demand transparency, challenge unlawful and harmful actions, and build coalitions to protect our communities. On the House Floor, I continue to oppose cuts to SNAP, Social Security, and Medicare and stand firmly in support of the Affordable Care Act and prescription-drug savings. I continue to stand up for reproductive freedom and personal privacy, and I will never stop pushing to keep federal investments flowing to Baltimore and our surrounding counties.

This report offers a snapshot of my work in 2025 in Congress and in our District: from helping constituents navigate federal agencies and supporting our small businesses and port workers, to securing funds for schools, public safety initiatives, and blight reduction efforts, in addition to resources to expand opportunities in housing, workforce training, and healthcare. I will not stop fighting for my constituents' access to affordable groceries, reasonable energy prices, and affordable healthcare.

If you need assistance or have an idea to strengthen our community, I want to hear from you. Together, we will meet this moment, protect what our seniors have earned, and build the future that our children deserve.

Yours in Service,

Kweisi Mfume
Member of Congress
